

Diary of St. Faustina, Paragraph 741

[Note: We must pray a lot for members of our family lines and friends and relatives, especially those who are far from God. We must pray for all those who have hurt us. We should also pray for the conversion of those who lead people away from God and His sacraments. There is a hell, and it is miserable. If not, eternity away from God is most miserable, and a matter of God's justice. We only have one chance to become saints—during this lifetime. Don't blow the chance!]

In the Dialogue of St. Catherine of Siena (d. April 29, 1380), God the Father tells St. Catherine that thanklessness is the source of all sin. The Dialogue also speaks about hell—just like the Diary.

Do we think about all the good things God has done for us—sending Jesus to teach us how to live and to set up a Church to give us grace? Do we thank God? Or do we purposely hold on to self-pity and focus on the perceived wrongdoings of others and on our wounds?]

741. Today, I was led by an Angel to the chasms of hell. It is a place of great torture; how awesomely large and extensive it is! The kinds of tortures I saw: the first torture that constitutes hell is the loss of God; the second is perpetual remorse of conscience; the third is that one's condition will never change; the fourth is the fire that will penetrate the soul without destroying it—a terrible suffering, since it is a purely spiritual fire, lit by God's anger; the fifth torture is continual darkness and a terrible suffocating smell, and, despite the darkness, the devils and the souls of the damned see each other and all the evil, both of others and their own; the sixth torture is the constant company of Satan; the seventh torture is horrible despair, hatred of God, vile words, curses and blasphemies. These are the tortures suffered by all the damned together, but that is not the end of the sufferings. There are special tortures destined for particular souls. These are the torments of the senses. Each soul undergoes terrible and indescribable sufferings, related to the manner in which it has sinned. There are caverns and pits of torture where one form of agony differs from another. I would have died at the very sight of these tortures if the omnipotence of God had not supported me. Let the sinner know that he will be tortured throughout all eternity, in those senses which he made use of to sin. I am writing this at the command of God, so that no soul may find an excuse by saying there is no hell, or that nobody has ever been there, and so no one can say what it is like.

I, Sister Faustina, by the order of God, have visited the abysses of hell so that I might tell souls about it and testify to its existence. I cannot speak about it now; but I have received a command from God to leave it in writing. The devils were full of hatred for me, but they had to obey me at the command of God. What I have written is but a pale shadow of the things I saw. But I noticed one thing: that most of the souls there are those who disbelieved that there is a hell. When I came to, I could hardly recover from the fright. How terribly souls suffer there! Consequently, I pray even more fervently for the conversion of sinners. I incessantly plead God's mercy upon them. O my Jesus, I would rather be in agony until the end of the world, amidst the greatest sufferings, than offend You by the least sin.

Ordinary Means of Salvation and Being Free in the Lord—Cooperating with God's Plan and Grace

-Luke 9:23-24: Then [Jesus] said to all, "If anyone wishes to come after Me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow Me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it." [Surrender daily to Jesus!]

1. Develop a deep faith life. (Ask for the gift of faith daily and spend time learning truth from the Bible, the Catechism of the Catholic Church, the lives of the saints, Imitation of Christ, etc.)

2. Improve your prayer life. (Will you spend an hour in prayer each day? This can be broken into various parts throughout the day: pray with the Bible, 15 minutes; pray Rosary, 15 minutes; listen to God in silence, 15 minutes, read Imitation of Christ, etc.)

3. Live a virtuous and moral life. (Virtue = repeated good acts to build up God's Kingdom, such as living the Beatitudes and performing the Corporal and Spiritual Works of Mercy. Moral life = follow the Ten Commandments and the Precepts of the Church.)

4. Live a sacramental life. (Mass on Sundays and Holy Days; also try to go to daily Mass and Confession frequently. Receiving a Sacrament is a "direct touch" from God.)

Advice and Warning from God

2 Timothy 3:1-5: But understand this: there will be terrifying times in the last days. People will be self-centered and lovers of money, proud, haughty, abusive, disobedient to their parents, ungrateful, irreligious, callous, implacable, slanderous, licentious, brutal, hating what is good, traitors, reckless, conceited, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, as they make a pretense of religion but deny its power. Reject them.

Isaiah 5:20-23: Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter! Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes, and shrewd in their own sight! Woe to those who are heroes at drinking wine, and valiant men in mixing strong drink, who acquit the guilty for a bribe, and deprive the innocent of his right!

Why We Sing and Pray in Latin at Mass

Dear Family,

This is our fourth bulletin in the last eight years explaining why we use Latin in the Mass. This is just a friendly reminder. Before quoting the experts, let me state a few simple concepts. First, the Fathers of the Church (the pope with the bishops) convened for Vatican II from 1962-1965 and put together a document called Sacrosanctum Concilium. This document says to continue to use some Latin in the Mass (“care must be taken to ensure that the faithful may also be able to say or sing together in Latin those parts of the Ordinary of the Mass which pertain to them”—see 36, 54). Out of humble obedience, I chose to follow their simple requests. Second, the word Catholic means universal. So, whether I am in Germany or France or Mexico, I can participate in familiar (in a universal way) parts of the Mass by singing or saying them with the rest of the congregation, if Latin is being used—as it should be. (There have been two times when I concelebrated Mass in foreign countries. Not one ordinary part was said in Latin, so I could not pray one thing in a common language with them—disappointing.) Third, the Latin language is sacred (because it was nailed to the Cross) and has been used for a long time, and it is great to be able to pray to God in the same language as the saints who have gone before us.

Exorcists use Latin prayers; demons hate this language more than English. Ask the exorcists; they know. St. Gregory the Great codified the Traditional Latin Mass in 590 A.D. Holy Mother Church wrote this Mass to give greatest glory to God using Latin. Think of all the godly priests who prayed this Mass: St. Robert Bellarmine, St. John Vianney, St. Padre Pio, etc. Finally, we use very little Latin. We do two parts in Latin (Sanctus, Sanctus, Santus—Holy, Holy, Holy; Agnus Dei—Lamb of God) and one part in Greek (Kyrie, Eleison—Lord, have mercy). The Greek was “absorbed” into the Latin Mass. If you sang all three of these back-to-back, it would take you 90 seconds. [Amen and Alleluia are Hebrew.] Many people from around the country (and locals) compliment our churches as being alive, welcoming, and reverent. They “love” the use of Latin at our Masses. We cannot please everyone, but we can provide the Infinite Jesus in the Eucharist and provide direct contact with Jesus in all the sacraments. Thank God for Confession!

Peace of Christ, Fr. Michael

*VATICAN CITY (Catholic News Service, June 28, 2005)
-- Presenting the new Compendium of the Catechism of the Catholic Church, Pope (now-emeritus) Benedict XVI urged Catholics around the world to memorize the most common Catholic prayers in Latin. Learning the prayers in Latin as well as in one’s own language “will help Christian faithful of different languages pray together, especially when they gather for special circumstances,” the pope said.

*Simply put, praying in Latin is to pray in what has been a sacred language for the Church. It is a common feature of cultures down through human history that they often prayed in a language other than the language of the home and streets. To pray liturgically is to enter heaven, a world apart from the everyday world. To use another and more ancient language is a common way many cultures have underscored this.

At the time of Jesus, the synagogue services and the Temple liturgy used ancient Hebrew. Jesus and his contemporaries did not speak Hebrew at home or in the streets any longer. They spoke Aramaic. But when they prayed they instinctively used the ancient prayers which were Hebrew.

*An unmistakable feature of the Latin liturgical texts is their nobility and stately seriousness. They were composed by people who clearly knew that liturgical prayer is a manner of addressing Almighty God, the Lord of heaven and earth. Accordingly, they utilized not the language of the street or of the market or political forum, but instead, the speech appropriate at the court of a King to whom supplication is being made. Or to situate things more in the context of our culture: they employ the kind of speech one might use in addressing the president in a formal letter or the recipient of an honorary degree at a university commencement exercise. Now when these texts were rendered into English in the late 60s of the last century, they were translated in accord with certain definite cultural tendencies of that time. Starting in the 1960s, we began to prize speech that is blunt, clear, direct, casual and unadorned. And we developed a prejudice against language that seems fussy or overly ornamental.

-Father (now-Bishop) Robert Barron

*This history means having Mass in Latin isn’t the same as celebrating in a foreign language. The difference is that when St. Boniface brought Catholicism to Germany in the 8th Century, he celebrated Mass singing “Sanctus, Sanctus, Sanctus Dominus,” not “Heilig, Heilig, Heilig Gott.” When St. Francis of Assisi and St. Catherine of Siena assisted at Mass in Medieval Italy, they responded not in Italian, but in Latin: “Et cum spiritu tuo.” Saints Teresa of Avila and John of the Cross both wrote beautiful Spanish poetry in the 16th century, but at each Mass they said the Pater Noster, not the Padre Nuestro. Saints Therese of Liseux and John Vianney lived in 19th century France, but at each Mass they prayed the Agnus Dei, not the Agneau de Dieu. Latin gives us a connection with 2000 years of history, with millions of Catholics from dozens of generations. Saints from the 4th, 12th and 20th centuries have sung these very hymns, hundreds of thousands of priests have said these same words of consecration, millions of Catholics have prayed these same Latin prayers.
